Content Enhancement for a Leading American Legal Publisher

The client works with its preferred vendors to review and update its repository of legal documents. Although essential to all attorneys in the United States, state code products require certain revisions in the core reference material targeted at law firms that specialize in jurisdictional disputes.

Key challenges

The client's repository of legal source files had needed to be judiciously searched and improved.

The process primarily included the following:

- Act Load Charting
- Note Creation and Placement
- Proof Review

Solution

- Successfully deploying a pool of qualified legal content personnel who were able to process different source inputs provided by the client
- Delivering over 3,500 legal code sections every month
- As the process required an accuracy of 98.8% in the state code process and 99.3% for the replacement volume process.

Results

Lumina Datamatics delivered over 35,000 revised statutory code sections to the client annually. The team has satisfactorily maintained the highest quality standards, encouraging the client to consider further engagements for its other legal content projects.
